

Welcome

*Brian Reed,
President and Chief Executive Officer*

We are pleased to continue our partnership with Sonoma Media Investments as the Presenting Sponsor of the inaugural Women in Conversation at Home. We enjoyed the first part of this newly created virtual program, and hope that you find this next segment to be just as inspiring.

We are excited to be back again with Amy Gutierrez, better known as Amy G., in-game reporter for the San Francisco Giants, emceeding this evening's program, Honoring Space. She will delve into conversation with three women who have figured out how to survive and thrive despite the extraordinary conditions of the pandemic and the fires that we are facing in Sonoma County. These inspiring women have built their careers and their lives around transforming physical and mental space through design, nature, and music.

Summit State Bank is proud to support the empowerment of local women to motivate each other and engage in important conversations.
